The Feature Film Project

"The support of The Feature Film Project for Khaled's story and their faith in me as the director, enabled me to bring my vision to the screen..."

ASGHAR MASSOMBAGI — WRITER/DIRECTOR OF THE AWARD WINNING FILM KHALED

Twice a year the FFP will select up to 6 feature length projects and their creative teams to participate in its 12 week, fully mentored, Development Programme.

The FFP will then offer to finance at least one project from each Development Programme. Full mentorship from the FFP and the Centre's professionals-in-residence will continue throughout production and post production.

Get ready!

NEXT DEADLINE for projects at both the $250,000 and $500,000 budget levels:
Tuesday July 16th, 2002

Competition for Filmmakers of Colour

Win the opportunity to make a documentary that will be broadcast on CBC and VisionTV.

Ever feel like the same stories get told on screen over and over again? Got a story of your own? If you're an emerging filmmaker of colour, then enter the National Film Board's 2002 Reel Diversity Competition.

The Reel Diversity Competition will provide five successful candidates from across Canada with the opportunity to direct a broadcast quality, English-language, 40-minute NFB documentary suitable for prime time television. Reel Diversity is an NFB initiative in partnership with CBC and CBC Newsworld, the lead broadcasters, and VisionTV. The competition is open to filmmakers from visible minority groups only. Applicants must be Canadian citizens or landed immigrants, and must have at least one credit in a key creative role in a completed independent film or video production of any genre. Full-time students are not eligible to apply.

Application deadline is May 24, 2002.
There is no entry fee.
