make it happen

Canadian Film Centre ★ Film Television New Media Training

"It was at the Centre that I connected with the people who later became my partners in business. Many of the key creative positions on our first feature were filled by people who we met through our residency at the Centre. Quite a few of our peers in the industry, both nationally and internationally, we met at the Centre. And as I look around our office today, I see that all the young people who have been working for us so diligently over the past few years are former residents of the Centre. For us, the Canadian Film Centre is truly a hotbed of exceptional talent!"
